Testimonial

It's easy for us to say what a good job we'll do for you, but it's always better to hear what our clients have to say. We presented at a recent Inspiring Women in Technology conference hosted by the Royal Signals, and Major Vanessa Freestone had this to say about us:

“This was the first event of its kind to be staged by the Corps and your support and enthusiasm really helped to make the event a success.

Interest in the event far outstripped our initial expectations and the conference was ultimately attended by a quarter of the Royal Signals' serving female personnel. Already I have received lots of positive feedback and there is a lot of enthusiasm to take this group forward. Building on the success of this event we will be looking to organise a second conference next year. ”

“Lots of positive feedback...and a lot of enthusiasm”
